Our Hilo Letter.

HILO, June 7th, 1872. To the Editor of the Pacific Commercial Advertiser. DEAR Siz :- Hilo is stagnant, mid-summery and hot and utterly without excitement. Sugar schooners unnumbered days out bring no mails,-storekeepers yawn in their doorways and all the officials seem to be lotus eating. Only a pair of noisy Canton knobby-nosed geese give token of the city being alive, and what they scream for only a goose can tell. The schools are in vacation. Mr. Kavanagh is reported to have received promotion and gone to Makawao, vice Green, discharged. Such is the story. At any rate Mr. K. has departed from Hito teaving another opening for Mr. Inspector General's peculiar patronage. The whaling bark Illinois, for whom Capt. Fraser waited here, arrived clean last week and left for Honolulu Wednesday. The Triton, for whom Capt. Heppingstone, wife and daughter are waiting, don't come, and the skipper is impatient. The Triton was Capt. T. Spencer's old ship. I boarded her off the Loochoos in 1846 and made the captain's acquaintance in a serio-comical way, for we had a ticklish adventure. Apropos of whaling,-since 10s natives, (may the Lord protect them from the lawyers!) can unite in one scheme and buy Kahuku (putting I suppose lassoes and leather leggings up in the market) why may not other sensible and enterprising Hawaiian hundreds turn their energies to account and similarly form joint stock chaling associations .- purchase and fit out ships of their own,-man them from their robustnous preponderances, and make it their ambition to become what one may dream they should be, -possibly what Nature intends them yet to be .-- the Oleaginous Sea Kings of the Pacific. I fancy that if the Great King whose day we shall presently celebrate.-(per order.) or that other enterprising departed Chief, "Governor Adams," could "revisit the glimpses of the moon" in a practical way, they would not look about long at the new order of things ere resolving to "cut in" for a hand in the game, and send commissions to bore the Arctic seas for oil. I am not much versed in the whaling business,-bave met ladies far more proficient in the mysteries-but it really seems to me that these Islands should be the very "head centre" of that pursuit and interest. It suits the people and they like it .- they must become more naritime. They stand cold weather (when not diseased) as well as baoles or the interior cringing "Pukiki." for I have had them in the mountains and proved them. And why should they forever hold only the subordinate positions as "hewers of wood and drawers of water," yielding their skill and their pluck to the malahini for a dirty book and a hungry meal in the forecastle on the 300th lay? Why shouldn't oil of native take contend with sugar for the kingship? Way? Chiefly I think for want of a proper leader, and I read the other day in "Bacon's Essays" that "nothing doth more burt in a state than that cunning men should pass for wise." Will not this apply to the present and many another question that you wot of? Take these young men of Hawaii away from some "amiable weaknesses" now and then,from woman in fact, in excess,-(Delilahs, who clip their whiskers)-and send them in their prime of manhood and pride of proprietorship away up to the bracing North and you shall see them develop icto a superior race. Always though on condition that the lawyers don't get at them,-else farewell to Union. I saw many Hawaiians in 1846, then in San Francisco (Yerba Buena), but just from the Hudson Bay's service and territories where they had lived for years, and they were superior to any equal number you might pick out at home to-day, -in looks, in tone, in energy and strength, and I beard an excellent character of them from a chief

At any rate, whaling is honester, "honorabler," cleaner, and godfier than legislating under the rod or peddling politics for a position, or than legislating after some Hawaiian fashions and acting in that solemn farce of the " three estates " "With volleys of eternal babble

And clamor more unanswerable. I have a desire (as you know) to send a copy of the P. C. A. to one of my friends at home, who would be much interested in the doings of this remote little Kingdom, but after looking through the last two or three numbers wherein Legislative proceedings are recorded, I am positively ashamed of the pitiful exhibition. If ever in the silent realms of doom where the August shadows of earth's past potentates tread in " mystic garb and ghostly measure" the gloomy promenade, these pranss of his posterity should be presented to the conqueror, wouldn't that stern spirit beg a furlough that he might come with chastisement in his hand and put things straight ag in? Some preparations are made for the coming 11th, MPORTERS AND WHOLESALE DEAL-ers in Clothing, Boots, Shoes, Hats, Men's Furnishing and Fancy Goods. (all 0m) No. 11 Kashumanu St. Honolulu. and more than $100 has been subscribed. There are to be bout and cause rates,-a recess for the "oration" and the horse, mule and donkey races,jumping in sacks and catching a greasy tailed pig. Music of course, by the band.

I commenced this letter with a growl. It must be confessed that the weather though hot is charming, ngreeably tempered by regular nightly showers. For the young cane there could be no improvement, and considerable areas are being planted. The seasons of 1873 and 1874, I think will give larger crops than Hilo ever produced hitherto,-probably more than double. Spencer's plantation is in fine condition for progress -the fields are clean, and plows are at work on new and. If all works smoothly the fine machinery at that establishment will soon have ample work. Same at Kaupakuea. The fields are clean as a garden, and next year they will yield hard on to a thousand tons, to be followed by still larger crops. Messrs. Afong and Achuck contemplate having a steam plow and other steam economy, which is sound. Of Kaiwiki and Onomea I know but little, only that both are well managed, whilst Paukaa usually tails the race, sometimes just saving her

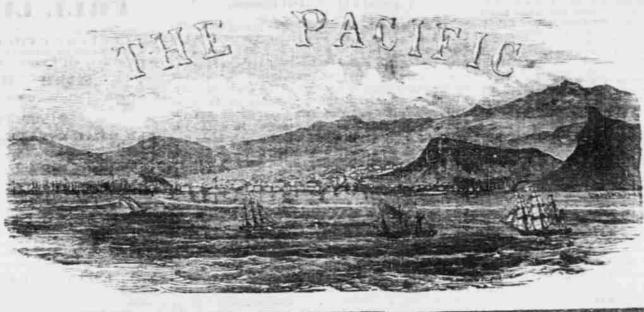

It seems so natural to speak of roads and harbors next to plantations that my ow 1 pen will button-hole me if I don't look out, but for once we'll refrain and IMPORTERS, WHOLESALE AND RETAIL Dealers in General Merchandise. Fire-proof Store, Nunadio ly let imagination work. There is plenty of room for it. This letter has reached its limits. Yours very truly,

Superstitious .- A young lady at Fond du Lac was married without shoes or stockings on, the other day, in accordance with an odd whim that such an act would bring good luck. The bill removing the impost on tea and coffee was signed by the President on the 21st ult, and is now a law to take effect from July 1st. The bill will reduce the revenue about $16,000,-000 annually. A slight diminution in the prices of these articles of necessity will soon be in order, though, owing to a deficiency in the coffee crop of last season, the reduction will not be so great as some have anticipated.

It is reported that a new system of transmitting news will soon be put in operation between New York and Washington, the operations of which will make all present systems seem insufferably slow and superfluous. Telegraph machines will be distributed to individuals, who, by a little practice will acquire the ability to stamp their messages on a slip of perforated paper in the telegraph cypher. This when taken to the Dry Goods, Clothing, Hats rurnishing Goods, Ladles' and Gents' Boots and Sans Yankee Notions, &c., &c. general office will be forwarded to its destination. and then by another machine printed before delivery to the person for whom it is intended. The whole time of the writing, transmission and printing of a message of one hundred words will be but one minute and twenty-seven seconds, and messages of that length are to be forwarded for twenty cents. The capacity of a telegraph wire in the present system is said to be about 6000 words in ten hours, but by the new process it is claimed 60,000 words an hour can be transmitted on one wire without confusion. One printing mac de can transcribe messages at the rate of | Will keep constantly on hand an extensive assortment of every 3000 words an hour. All the working expenses of the new system are represented to be much less than those of the old ones. The cost of a machine for inditing messages will be but two or three dollars, so that any merchant, banker or newspaper office can have one for its own business, and one operator can do as much business with one wire as a hundred operators with a hundred wiges now do.
